ROBBINS.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Back, twins, a boy and a girl.
John Clemons and W. M. Cobb are still hauling timber for the K. L. & V. Co.

Lucinda, the widow of Judge G. S. Miller, is very low and is not expected to recover.

Henry Williams, one of Hunting Creek's best citizens, has his house nearly completed. The work is being done by C. C. and S. S. Back.

J. R. Mason has finished his job of hauling logs for the K. L. & V. Co., and has taken another contract for the same company. He has moved to what is known as Samp Branch.

A large crowd attended the burial of Sister Lydia Holbrook on last Saturday a week ago at the Holbrook grave yard. Services were held at the church house before the interment.

FINCATTLE.

Mrs. A. B. Akers is quite sick.
Born, to Mrs. Jane Whisman, a girl.

Rosa and Alice Smith are visiting on Miller's Creek.

The Junior's are getting along nicely with their new hall.

J. K. Gentry has begun farming what lots of us should be doing.

Crate and Frank Kincaid have bought A. J. Spencer's timber for $1,000, cash.

The New Domain Oil & Gas Co., of Lexington, are having their oil leases surveyed and located. Talk as though they will sink a test well in early spring.

J. P. Gunsion, who had an examining trial some time ago for killing Newman and held without bail to the grand jury, was brought before Judge Riddell last week and allowed bail.

EVERSOLE.

Miss Stella Amburgy is a very pleasant guest at the home of your correspondent.

We are sorry to note that Miss Edna Wilson, of this county, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid.

Mrs. Lillie Stepp, wife of Joseph Stepp, of Meadow Creek, died at her home last Wednesday and was buried Friday at the L. C. Rose grave yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Haden Reynolds went to Jackson last week and bought a nice line of furniture. They will go to housekeeping about the first of the month.

We have had several stock buyers in this neighborhood in the last few weeks. J. C. Rose sold to Sherman Spradling, of Camp-ton, 12 head of cattle for $280, also, 12 head of hogs to Charles Rose for $50.

We are glad to know that the lid is being put on the blind tigers, which have been turned loose upon the good citizens of Breathitt county for the past four years. We hope the present administration will never stop the search until every one is found and given the fullest extent of the law.

Dr. F. C. Roark, of Kodak, passed through here Thursday on his way home from Louisville. He also visited his brother, L. C. Roark, at this place.

Barry Turner, of Crockettville, was here on business Tuesday.

BREATHITT COUNTY NEWS.

All the Vowels in One Word.
There are but six vowels in the English language—a, e, i, o, u, y.—which contain all the vowels in regular order—a, e, i, o, u, y.—and are, moreover, all of the same length and sound. There is but one word which contains them in regular reverse order, and that word is duff. Besides the above there are 149 English words which contain all the vowels in irregular order. Twelve of these begin with the letter a, seven with e, twenty-three with i, sixteen with o, fourteen with u, four with y, seven with g, one with h, six with k, two with l, two with m, two with n, two with p, one with r, one with s, two with t, fifteen with v, and six with w.

I have lived on intimate terms with the most notable men of the South, and now have the opportunity to tell you that they are second to none in intellect and instruction, but this, I intend, only until golf links and a golf ball become visible. Then they are hickies. I try to talk to them of scenery, literature, art, politics, etc., they are polite, of course, the English always are—but I can see instinctively that there is only one subject to interest them, to agree with him. A Foreign Visitor in Civil and Military Gazette, London.

Peppermint.
The preparation of peppermint is especially an American industry. The peppermint is cut when in bloom, like the clover, and placed in close wooden vats and steamed. The oil rises upward with the steam, which is condensed and collected into a receiver where the oil rises and is piped off. It takes about 350 pounds of dry peppermint to produce one pound of oil. An acre of peppermint yields from six to ten pounds of oil, often more, even as high as fifty pounds.

Dickens' Gay Clothes.
We are walking down Wellington street, Frank, and just passing the of the household gods, when a handsome, well-dressed gentleman, with a bright green coat, vivid scarlet tie and pale trousers would have been noticed by any one, but the size of the nose on his buttonhole riveted my attention. For it was a regular flower garland, my father stopped and introduced me to him. I, who had only seen him in the MacLise portrait and a very small head in my mother's photograph, was astonished to find that the country in which tradition located this marvellous being has never been explored by a white man.

The Gilded Man.
At the headwaters of the Orinoco the Spanish traditions located the land of El Dorado, "The Gilded Man," a potentate whose country was so rich in gold dust that he had his body anointed with oil and sprinkled with gold every morning, so that he shone in the sun as though gilded. It is a curious fact that the country in which tradition located this marvellous being has never been explored by a white man.

Monkeys' Faces.
"Kamala" is the singular name of the red dye produced from the glands of the mature fruit of a tree named "Mimus philippinensis," which is also called "monkey face tree" because monkeys paint their faces red by rubbing them with the fruit. Here is a striking instance of the influence of heredity.—Madras Mail.

Observation.
To behold is not necessarily to observe, and the power of comparing and combining is only to be obtained by education. It is much to be regretted that habits of exact observation are not cultivated in our schools. To this deficiency may be traced much of the fallacious reasoning and the false philosophy which prevail.—W. Humboldt.

Mrs. W. R. Bradshaw entertained a number of the young people at supper last Friday night.

Rev. W. W. Green returned Wednesday from Montgomery county, where he had been holding revival meetings for the past two weeks.

Dr. O. H. Swango has purchased a lot on Arlington avenue, next to S. S. Taulbee's lot. He will build a residence on the lot in a short time.

Floyd Day has been appointed curator of the estate of J. Taylor Day, of Hazel Green, who has been in bad health for some time and unable to look after his business affairs.

The dance at the Business Men's Club last Friday evening was one of the most enjoyable held in this city for a long time. Many visitors from out of town were present. The music was furnished by an orchestra from Lexington.

The cold storage companies in the large cities, which have been holding eggs to force the price higher, are all big losers on account of the enormous rush of fresh eggs which are coming to market. The egg panic did not reach Jackson this winter.

The law partnership heretofore existing between G. W. Fleenor and A. H. Patton has been dissolved by mutual consent, Mr. Fleenor moving to his new office in the Fleenor building and Mr. Patton remaining in the Crawford building.

E. P. Landrum went to Turkey Creek Wednesday to take the acknowledgment of some deeds from Isaac Terry, Sr., to his sons. Mr. Terry is 85 years old and owned a large and valuable tract of land which he wanted to divide between his children before his death.

The K. L. & V. Co. completed their new bridge across the river last Tuesday and ran a loaded train over it the same day. It is built of wood and was built under the personal direction of Capt. F. H. Enright, manager of the company. This bridge takes the place of the steel bridge that fell down several weeks ago.

The lecture at the Baptist church on Sunday evening, by the pastor, on the "Gateways of the Ball Room," was attended by an audience that tested the seating capacity of the church. The speaker at his best and held his audience spell-bound during the whole time. It is believed that there will be much good come out of this meeting.

When you come to court next week bring us $1.50 and get five papers a whole year. This offer applies to old subscribers as well as new. We will mark up your subscription a year and give you the other four papers. This is the best combination we have ever had and we would like for all our subscribers to take advantage of it while it lasts.

S. D. Fleenor has moved into his new building on Main street. Sam is one of our most enterprising young business men and has set an example which we hope will be followed by other merchants of the town, as Jackson is getting too large to permit cheap frame structures to be erected in the business portion of town. We wish Sam success in his new building.

On Tuesday evening, of this week, the Baptist church held its annual roll call. This was largely attended and, after a short preliminary service, the roll was called. Then it was announced that the remainder of the evening would be given to a social gathering; in that of getting acquainted with one another. The refreshments were ice cream and cake.

The L. & E. Railway Company has purchased a site on East Main street, Lexington, for a terminal station and will, during the year, erect a handsome freight depot to cost about $150,000. With this new depot and the new union passenger station to be erected this summer, the L. & E. will be better equipped for handling passengers and freight than any railroad entering Lexington.

A GRUESOME FIND.

The Skeleton of an Unknown Man Discovered Near Town.—Supposed to be Charles Miller and Evidence Points to Murder by Two Men.

While Judge H. F. Davis and George Hays were cutting some timber on the hill just below the lower cut off branch on last Tuesday they found the skeleton of a man lying on the upper side of a large tree on a steep bluff. The clothing had all rotted or disappeared, except the coat and shoes. From the appearance of the coat the man came to his death by a bullet wound. Judge H. F. Davis summoned a jury and held an inquest and the jury, after viewing and making a search of the remains, returned the following verdict:

We, the jury, summoned to investigate into the cause of the death of an unknown man whose remains were found on the hill just below the lower cut off branch, about one-half mile from the town limits, find as follows: The flesh had all rotted away and the skeleton had fallen to pieces, and no paper or other evidences could be ascertained. We found evidence from the coat sufficient to convince us that the man had come to his death by a gun shot wound, and from a 10 cent coin dated by the side of his bones, found 1903, we find that he came to his death since 1903, and that his name, or the cause of his death, is unknown to us, and, judging from the appearance of his teeth and other parts of his skeleton, he was a man past fifty years of age. We found that seven of his ribs had been fractured at some previous time and had healed, and that five of his upper and five of his lower teeth had been lost some time before his death.

Given under our hands this February 13th, 1906.

MASON & WRIGHT, mark

O. A. HAGINS, J. W. CUNNINGHAM, J. D. JONES, DICK BLOUNT, G. W. SEWELL.

Since the inquest the authorities have been able to gather enough evidence to arrive at a conclusion that the man's name was Charles Miller, who boarded for two or three months with J. D. Neal, who lived across the river, just opposite the town. He suddenly disappeared and no one knew what had become of him. The evidence seems to be strong against two men who lived near here at the time, both of whom are now in the custody of the law, but not for this crime.

"MURDER WILL OUT."

The Only Object Is To Annoy.

The Town of Jackson, late last Friday night, filed a suit against Breathitt county for the possession of the bridge across the river and for $15,000 damages. No one need be alarmed at this suit as the town conveyed to Breathitt county all its right, title and interest in the right to build said bridge before the county began building it. We think the main object in bringing the suit is to try to hamper and annoy the present county administration.

Perfumers.

In the collection of perfumes two processes are employed. In one, the grease process, boxes with glass bottoms are prepared, the bottom being covered with pure grease or suet, and the flowers, gathered fresh every day during the season, are laid on trays in the box, the grease being left to absorb the fragrance. In the oil process the place of grease is taken by cotton batting saturated with oil, the process being substantially the same. In both cases the vehicle becomes impregnated with the essential oil and odor of flowers.

When Solid Iron Plants.

Experiments show that if a ball of solid iron is lowered into a mass of liquid iron by means of a metal fork the ball at first sinks to the bottom with the fork. But in a few seconds it leaves the prongs and rises to the surface, where it continues to float until it melts. The rising is explained by the expansion of the ball, due to heating, whereby it becomes bulkier, but less dense than the molten metal.

The Law and the Sword.

In all governments there must of necessity be both the law and the sword. Laws without arms would give us not liberty, but licentiousness, and arms without laws would produce not subjection, but slavery.—Colton.

The Irish Staff.
I must allow that it sometimes rains in Ireland, but Irish rain is not quite like other rain. It is, as a rule, softer than rain elsewhere, and if the truth must be told I like rain so long as one has not to say, "For the rain it raineth every day." Irish weather is not so much capricious as coquettish. It likes to plague you, if but to prepare you to enjoy the more its sunny, smiling mood. It will weep and wail all night, and, lo, the next morning Ireland is one sweet smile and seems to say: "Is it raining I was yesterday? Ah, then, I'll rain no more." And the rumbles leap and laugh, and the pastures and very stone walls glisten; the larks carol on their celestial journey; there is a pungent, healthy smell of drying peat; the mountains are dimpled with the joy of life and sunshine; the lake lies perfectly still, content to reflect the overhanging face of heaven, and just won't your honor buy the stoutest pair of homemade hose from a barefooted, bareheaded daughter of deposed kings with eyes like dewdrops and a voice that would charm the colts out of the most churlish horse? If on such mornings as these you do not lose your heart to Ireland it must be made of stern, unimpressionable stuff indeed.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Pirating Foley's Honey and Tar.
Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genus. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. Jackson Drug Co.

Strictly Business.
"May I ask if I am in the market for a bid for your affections?" asked the youth who did everything in a business-like way.
"You must go to far before I can take any stock in your offer," answered the dutiful broker's daughter.—Baltimore American.

About the Fern.
Supposed to be a plant that grows only in the shade and thus to possess a singular power, whereby it which it brings of the seed was believed to be attended with considerable danger. Poyet in his "Pandemonium," published in 1684, says: "Much discourse hath been about gathering of fern seed (which is looked upon as a magical herb) on the night of the summer's eve, and I remember I was told of one who went to gather it, and the spirits whisked by his ears like bullets and sometimes struck his hat and other parts of his body. In fine, though he apprehended he had got a quantity of it and secured it in papers and box beside, when he got home he found it empty. But most probable this appointment of time and hours is of the devil's own institution, as well as the fact that having once ensnared people to an obedience to his rules, he may with more facility oblige them to stricter vassalage."

A Compliment.
"What did he say when you told him he was the worst liar you ever knew?" "He merely remarked that he had been flattered before."—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

A Queer Bird.
Natural history always interests children, who usually recall explanations of the phenomena in their own way. An account of the habits of the cuckoo, for instance, was apparently absorbed at the time, but was reproduced three or four days later. "The cuckoo? Oh, that's the bird that doesn't lay its own eggs."

They never gripe or sicken, but cleanse and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels. This is the universal verdict of the many thousands who use Dr. Williams' Little Early Risers. These famous little pills relieve headache, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, torpid liver, sallow complexion. Try Little Early Risers. Jackson Drug Co.

Charles Lamb and Tobacco.
Charles Lamb, according to his own confession, was "a fierce smoker of tobacco." One day when puffing vigorously the coarsest weed from a long clay pipe in company with Dr. Parr the latter asked him how he managed to acquire this "prodigious power." "By toiling after it, as some men toil after virtue," was the prompt reply. As he advanced in years, however, "Tobacco" was obliged to relax its intimacy with the weed, so that, to use his own words, he was "like a burnt out volcano emitting now and then only a casual puff." Eventually he took his formal leave in a "Farewell Ode to Tobacco," and in forwarding a copy of the poem to Wordsworth he writes: "I have had it in my head to do it these two years, but tobacco stood in its own light when it gave me headaches that prevented me singing its praises."

Bright Answers.
"Non's wife," wrote a boy in an examination, "was called Joan of Arc." "Water," wrote another, "is composed of two gases, oxygen and cambrigen." "Lava," said a third, "is what the barber puts on your face." "A blizzard," declared another child, "is the inside of a fowl."

The Distinction.
"Do you say that as a lawyer or a man?" exclaimed an exasperated witness whom a lawyer was cross-examining. "If you say it as a man, it is a lie and a slander, but if you say it as a lawyer it's not of the slightest consequence."—London Telegraph.

Fear is implanted in us as a preservative from evil, but its duty, like that of other passions, is not to overbear reason, but to assist it.—Johnson.

All old-time cough syrups bind the bowels. This is wrong. A new idea was advanced two years ago in Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. This remedy acts on the mucous membrane of the throat and lungs and loosens the bowels at the same time. It expels all cold from the system. It clears the throat, strengthens the mucous membranes, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

Fishskin Lanterns.
The puffer or swell fish has the power to distend itself with air into the shape of a globe. Japanese living in the Hawaiian Islands make of the skin of the big puffer found in Hawaiian waters an odd and grotesque lantern. When the skin of the big puffer has been first removed while it is still soft it is stuffed out to its full size in globe shape and so left to dry. The skin is not much thicker than paper and translucent brown on the upper part and gray below. The fins are preserved and dried sticking out from the fish, the tail being perked up at an angle. A circular opening is made in the back, through which the light can be placed and in which is set horizontally a hoop or rim by which the lantern can be suspended. Such a lantern made of a big puffer's skin may be a foot in diameter crosswise and fifteen inches in length, and with the head of the fish appearing at one end and the perked up tail at the other and the fins projecting at the sides this fish skin lantern makes a very curious object.—New York Herald.

Startling, But True.
People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have warded it off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia." W. D. Wilcox, Logan, N. Y. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

Startling, But True.
People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have warded it off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia." W. D. Wilcox, Logan, N. Y. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.
